So how does +CARBONFIRST work?

Initially, we need to understand where your organisation currently stands. This involves a kick-off and run-through of the whole process, followed by a Data Discovery Workshop. During this workshop, we identify what makes your organisation unique and where your data is. The output of the workshop is an action plan on how to collect all the data we need.

We will then have catch-up sessions every fortnight to review progress and address any challenges. Once we have all the data, we will use the UK government's company reporting standard to calculate your organisation's carbon footprint. The output will be presented in a report and presentation that summarises our findings and provides recommendations for future sustainability initiatives. The process is designed to be as simple as possible for our clients.

More than a Carbon Footprint

A carbon footprint should be taken annually and both improve accuracy and show a reduction every year. Our carbon accounting solution is designed so your staff can focus on their jobs and we focus on measuring and improving your carbon footprinting process. We organise and work with your staff throughout the year to improve process improvements, contacting suppliers about their footprints and pushing sustainability initiatives.

- + Add value to your organisation through sustainability
- + Help you make responsible investment choices
- + Organise and collaborate with your staff
- + Engage and work with suppliers to improve their carbon footprint
- + Push sustainability initiatives
- + Improve your data collection and extraction process
